Sunday (May 12, 2019)
Scripture: John 10:27-30
4th Sunday of Easter

Reflection:

We are all called to be shepherds. Jesus sent his disciples as He himself was sent by the Father. He was a shepherd and Christian leadership looks for people who are shepherds. The priests are shepherds of the flock but by far not the only one. The role of the father in the family is not any different. He is not there to frighten children into compliance. If he is a serene presence, he will be seen as the shepherd who provides security and peace. He will create an atmosphere where closeness will develop, where all voices can be heard and listened to.

A listening attitude is needed in our homes. A couple that talks and listens to each other remains one. They continually reinforce their commitment to their understanding and openness to each other's needs. Their bond is love and its proof is in the eagerness to respond to each other's expectations. There is no discord on how to raise the children, on what to allow and to forbid. There is no rivalry in winning over the children's sympathy. Jesus was able to maintain his unity with the Father through prayer. We need these moments of prayer too as a person, as a family and as a community to listen to the voice of the shepherd, for only He can assure us of safety and eternal life.

Let us keep in prayer all mothers whose hands have reached out and touched the lives of their children. May they be remembered as a special gift from God.
As the Mother of God, the Virgin Mary has a unique position among the saints, indeed, among all creatures. She is exalted, yet still one of us. Mary embraces God's will and freely chooses to cooperate with God's grace, thereby fulfilling a crucial role in God's plan of salvation. Throughout the centuries, the Church has turned to the Blessed Virgin in order to come closer to Christ. Many forms of piety toward the Mother of God developed that help bring us closer to her Son. In these devotions to Mary, "while the Mother is honored, the Son, through whom all things have their being and in whom it has pleased the Father that all fullness should dwell, is rightly known, loved and glorified and . . . all His commands are observed." The Church honors her as the Mother of God, looks to her as a model of perfect discipleship, and asks for her prayers to God on our behalf.
