

Happy Holidays!

Expect the Unexpected &
Always be Protected

Created by: Macy Ramos, Kameron Castillo,
Akemi Kawamata

Possible Options, but Always BE SAFE

Virtual Gatherings

Eat with the People in your Household

Shop Online

Our message (To You)

During the holidays, we recommend you to refrain from gathering in groups that would put your safety at risk. In order to take care of your health, watch your distance between others and if you are sick, refrain from meeting up with people. Sleep, binge shows, or eat ice cream, but stay home everyone please.

Virtual gatherings may be inconvenient or not the same, but seeing family versus not at all is better. You know what they say “Anything is better than nothing.” Virtual gatherings decrease the chances of getting your loved one sick, be creative, be open, and be grateful.