PASTOR'S REFLECTION

3RD Sunday of Easter

Acts 5:27-32, 40b-41, Revelation 5:11-14, John 21:1-19

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

Peace be with you!

"Every call to conversion is a call to follow Christ more closely." - Unknown

As we gather on this 3rd Sunday of Easter, we are reminded of the importance of conversion in our spiritual lives. The readings today invite us to reflect deeply on our commitment to Christ and our call to witness His love and resurrection.

In the first reading from the Acts of the Apostles, we see the apostles courageously proclaiming the message of Jesus, even in the face of persecution. Peter and the other apostles respond to the religious authorities not with retreat but with boldness, declaring, "We must obey God rather than men."

This statement isn't just a defiance of earthly powers; it's a profound commitment to the divine mission bestowed upon them. Each of us is called to examine where our loyalties lie and to whom we give our ultimate obedience.

The passage from Revelation opens our hearts to the heavenly vision of worship and the multitude praising the Lamb. It paints a picture of a universe devoted to Christ, emphasizing that our journey of conversion is not just a solitary endeavor but one that connects us to the broader body of believers across time and space.

This heavenly chorus encourages us to join in the song of praise, recognizing the eternal worth of Christ's sacrifice and the joy of our salvation.

In the Gospel of John, the familiar story of the post-resurrection appearance on the shore of the Sea of Tiberias serves as a personal and intimate moment where Jesus invites His disciples to rediscover their purpose. After a long night of fishing that yielded nothing, the disciples heed Jesus' command to cast their nets once more, leading to an overwhelming catch.

It is in this moment of obedience that their eyes are opened—recognizing the Risen Christ restoring their hopes and renewing their mission.

As Jesus engages Peter, asking, "Do you love me?" three times, we are reminded that true love for Christ involves action. It requires a response—a commitment to feed His lambs and care for His flock.

This call to conversion is not just about personal piety; it compels us to engage actively in the world, reflecting the love of Christ in our actions and words.

Let us take this Sunday as an opportunity for personal and communal reflection. Where is God inviting us to conversion? How is the Risen Lord calling us to deeper discipleship in our daily lives?

May we find the courage to respond with fidelity, to step out in faith, and to live out our calling as witnesses to the resurrected Christ. In our willingness to follow Him more closely, we too become instruments of His love and peace in a world longing for hope.

As we partake in the Eucharist, let us renew our commitment to serve and witness, empowered by the grace that flows from this incredible gift given to us through Christ. Amen.

Have a Holy Easter Season to all of you.

STEWARDSHIP

A Way of Life

THEME: Renewed Purpose Through Stewardship (John 21:1-19)

Dear Faithful Stewards of the Gospel,

In John 21:1-19, we witness a profound interaction between the Risen Christ and His disciples. This encounter occurs after His resurrection, emphasizing not just the miraculous event of Easter, but also the call to stewardship—a stewardship that reflects our renewed purpose as followers of Christ.

Like the disciples who had returned to their old ways, we too can find ourselves wandering from our calling, needing a fresh encounter with Jesus to restore our focus and commitment.

Three Key Points of Stewardship from John 21:1-19

1. Recognizing the Source of Our Provision (Verses 4-6)

When the disciples went fishing, they toiled all night without success. It wasn't until they listened to Jesus's directive to cast their nets on the other side that they caught an abundance of fish.

This shows us how recognizing Christ as the source of our provision is foundational to effective stewardship. In our lives, we often rely on our own strength and understanding, but true fruitfulness comes when we submit to Christ's guidance.

Challenge:

Are we listening to Christ in our decisions and endeavors? Take time this week to reflect on areas where you may be leaning on your own understanding rather than seeking Christ's direction. Commit to praying about those areas and being responsive to His leading.

2. Responding to Christ's Call (Verses 15-17)

After breakfast, Jesus asks Peter three times if he loves Him, to which Peter affirms his love each time. Jesus responds by telling him to "feed my sheep."

This interaction shows us the idea that stewardship is not merely about managing resources, but about caring for others. Jesus has entrusted us with relationships, talents, and responsibilities; our love for Him compels us to serve and nurture His flock.

Challenge:

Reflect on how you are using your gifts and resources to serve others in your community and church. Is there someone in need of guidance, mentorship, or care whom you could reach out to this week? How can you "feed" those around you with your time, talents, or treasures?

3. Embracing the Call to Follow (Verse 19)

Jesus concludes by saying, "Follow me." This is the ultimate call to discipleship and stewardship. It calls us to a life that goes beyond mere existence or duty; it invites us into a journey of faith, where our stewardship flows from our relationship with Christ. Following Him means having our hearts aligned with His mission, seeking to build His kingdom on earth.

Challenge:

What does it look like for you to "follow" Jesus in your current season of life? Are there areas where you are hesitant to step out in faith? Consider committing to one new step of discipleship that may involve a change in your current practices or priorities. Ask God how you can actively follow Him in your day-to-day life.

Conclusion:

As we reflect on John 21:1-19, let us embrace the truth that the Risen Christ calls each of us into a deeper sense of stewardship, one that encompasses not only our resources but also our relationships and our entire lives.

Remember that our purpose is renewed in Christ, and by responding to His call to follow Him, we can faithfully serve, care for others, and recognize Him as the source of our provision. Let us step boldly into the stewardship for which we are called, assured in the promise of His presence.

Have A Blessed Easter Season to all!

In Christ's Service,
Fr. Eric Castro, MS

WITH HEARTFELT GRATITUDE

Dear Parents and Families,

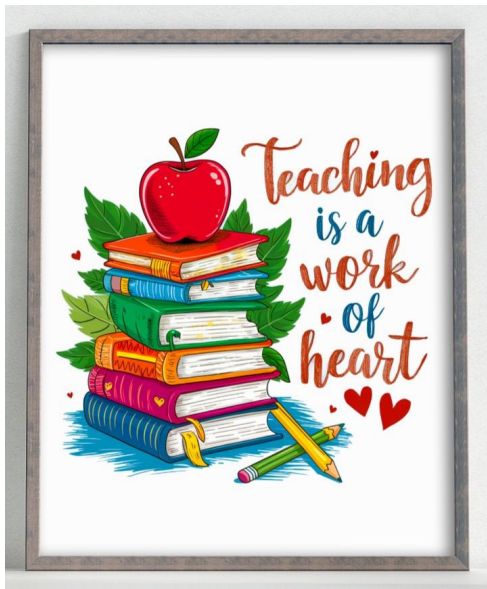

On behalf of our entire St. Joseph Parish School 'ohana, mahalo nui loa for your tremendous support and generosity.

Your beautiful donations of flowers and greenery transformed our performance area into a space filled with life, joy, and aloha—for both our May Day celebration and our Legacy of Light Luau Fundraiser. These events would not have been possible without the many hands and hearts that came together—faculty, staff, parents, and students—to set up on Thursday afternoon and lovingly take everything down on Saturday. Your time and effort are deeply appreciated.

Our May Day program was a stunning tribute to the rich cultures that make up our school community. It served as a beautiful reminder of how, as pilgrims of hope, we walk together in unity, sharing God's love and mercy with one another.

Saturday's Legacy of Light Luau was also graced with joyful performances from our 1st, 4th, 5th, 8th grade students and faculty and staff, who brought energy and spirit to the celebration. We were blessed to welcome many alumni who shared memories of the past while celebrating the gifts of our present and hope for the future. We are so grateful to each and every one of you for making these events such meaningful, successful, and memorable experiences—all for the glory of God.

*With heartfelt gratitude,
Ms. Beverly Sandobal*

On Wednesday, May 7th, we will honor all our teachers and staff. Father will do a special blessing before the end of the Mass. Following the Mass, we will have our students give their leis, flowers, and cards as their thank you for the dedication and commitment of all faculty and staff. Each of them, share their gifts, sacrifice many hours in a day and week to make sure they are providing Quality Catholic education to every single student. Let us take time to honor them as faithful humble and loving stewards of God in their educational ministry. Most of all keep them in your prayers as we all journey together to be PILGRIMS OF HOPE!
